Richmond's New Year's Eve Carnival Attracts Crowd of Fifty Thousand Persons

Greatest Demonstration Ever Held in Richmond and One
Long to Be Remembered by Those Who Will Soon
Witness the Development of One of the

Richmond's Carnival has come and gone, an event that will not soon be forgotten by the thousands of merrymakers who participated in the festivities. The carnival spirit prevailed until New Year's morn, and at one time it was estimated that 50,000 persons were surging east and west on Macdonald avenue. Thousands of visitors came from surrounding towns in automobiles and on trains. The parade and bands of music, red fire, confetti, horns, masks, floats and attractions, grotesque and otherwise, were on display till the gray streaks of dawn began to surround the eastern horizon New Year's morn.

Citizens of Contra Costa county and sister counties, under wise Providence here assembled, I greet you. And now most worthy sister, I crown you queen of this great carnival, and as high officer of this city I present to you the key emblem of power, and in doing so I hope your reign will be one of great peace and prosperity.

The crowning of Queen Eunita was indeed one of the prettiest of ceremonies, the honor falling upon Mayor Owens who, after placing the golden crown upon the head of Miss Eunita Kaiser, welcomed the Queen in appropriate words and delivered to her the keys of the city. Queen Eunita responded in a neat little speech, welcoming the merry-makers as follows:

"My Loyal Subjects: The distinguished honor has been conferred upon me to act as your queen during this magnificent carnival to celebrate the outgoing of the old year and to welcome the new one. We are now standing on the threshold of the year 1913, and it is my sincere wish that you will make merry and be happy and will welcome the new year royally, and may it be fraught with good deeds and accomplishments, and may this city continue to be the wondrous city of the Pacific Coast, is the wish of your Queen."

CARNIVAL NOTES.

Confetti and the din of horns interfered with the band concert and classical music. But the bands played on, just the same.

The floats were elaborate affairs, the duplicate of the first steamer to enter the inner harbor being especially designed by one of the greatest ship builders of the merchant marine.

Personal Mention.

Mayor J. J. McNamara of Martinez, was a visitor to the Carnival branch of the Santa Fe railway.

Charles G. Bacon and W. R. Sharkey "made a noise" at the Carnival. They came down with the Martinez bunch.

County Assessor Meese, County Auditor A. N. Sullenger, District Attorney A. B. McKenzie and Deputy County Clerk Samuel Wells came down from Martinez and attended the Carnival.

To Build New Rectory.

J. C. Thornton was awarded the contract for the construction of the new rectory to be erected by St Mark's parish on Tenth street, just south of the church, which is at the corner of Bissell avenue.

The structure will be two stories and a high basement, and will be one of the most modern in that section of the city and one of the roomiest and most up-to-date clerical residences in Richmond. The cost of the building will be $4461.50.

A Modern Creamery.

O. R. Ludewig is making preparations to install a modern creamery in the store room east of his Richmond Market. The store has been fitted up in elegant style, marble counters and shelves and the most modern machinery is being installed. George Moore, a butter-maker and creamery man with years of experience, will have charge of the store. He has chosen as his assistant E. Brain, a graduate of the University of California.

Acreage Buy.

The Terminal's neighbors, Truitt, MacQuiddy & Moyle, real estate and insurance, are busy men these days. Among the many deals they have made with the incoming year was a $40,000 acreage transfer, the property lying north of Richmond. San Francisco parties made the buy and evidently made a good one, if indications count. North Richmond is gilt edge, and getting better each and every day of the new year.

Gas For North Richmond.

Manager W. E. Luce of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., states that the company is laying several miles of mains in North Richmond. North Richmond promises to be the desirable residence section, with street improvements and its high elevation, along with a car service equal to any around the bay.

Balance in Treasury.

The Carnival committee reports a balance of about $500 in the treasury after paying all bills. This is quite a nice little nest egg, a nucleus to build on for the next carnival. A permanent organization will no doubt be formed, officers elected and Richmond's Carnival be made a regular annual event.

And He Don't Look It.

We notice that W. A. Stratton was celebrating to the full extent. We find that his joy was due in part to the news of the arrival of a 10-year-old grandson in Pasadena. Congratulations, Grandpa Stratton.

One Business.

During the holidays, s, and lots in West house and lot in the San Francisco tract, two lots on Macdonald, two lots on Ninth and one lot on Fifth and a house and lot on Second, between Nevin and Barrett.

City Briefs.

County Auditor A. N. Sullenger, Martinez, a live Richmond booster, attended the big celebration New Year's eve.

Free garden seeds to the patrons of the Terminal. A big sack from the U. S. agricultural department has been received at this office for free distribution.

The Standard Oil Co. has a pay roll of 2300 men in Richmond, and the demand for the company's products is growing rapidly that orders cannot be filled promptly.

One of the Santa Fe's oldest engineers, David Hopkins, has been promoted to the position of traveling engineer. He was assigned to the Bakersfield-Fresno division.

Three hundred additional telephones will be added to Richmond when the Stege and county line area is added. Berkeley will not be in the long distance zone after this change is made.

The well being bore by Galbraith Bros. for the Elks Hall Building Association on its lot on Macdonald and Tenth has reached a depth of 182 feet and while a good flow of water has been found, an electric pump will be installed to determine if there is sufficient supply of water for the new four story building.

The board of trade's new president, Fred Schram, is making a good officer. He worked hard and gave generously of his time and money to make the carnival a success. President Schram set the pace, but was not alone. Messrs. Steffvater, Knowles, Owens, city and county officials, the woman's improvement clubs—everybody in Richmond worked for the success of the big New Year's event.

Farley Resigns.

At a meeting of the city council last Monday night W. S. Farley, who has served the city as engineer for the past year, resigned his position, and H. D. Chapman was appointed his successor. It had been unofficially announced that this change was to be made. Mr. Farley will associate himself with one of the largest firms of engineers on the coast. Mr. Chapman assumed the duties of his office at once.

Lucky Twins.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompson, Jan. 1, 1913, twins, a boy and girl. No town or city in California has reported an event of this character, which is notable, and worthy of a telegram of congratulation from President Elect Wilson.

Albany Dry.

The "dry's" of Albany claim that the majority of the population are willing to relegate the booze joint to oblivion, and that the mayor, formerly a "wet," will lead the "dry's" to make the "clean up." The "dry's" are dubious, for fear the "wet's" will bring in a "package" concealed in a sleeve.

City Council Appoints
New City Engineer

Trimming of City's Expenses Now
Recommended—Election
Not Afar Off.

The city council met last Monday evening with all members present except Councilman McDuff.

The contract for constructing the new west side sewer was awarded to G. W. Cushing. The contract amounts to almost $11,000.

Councilman Hartnett, of the finance committee, reported that the committee recommended the trimming of the city expenses. The first action was to dispense with one of the assistants in the tax collector's office. One of the members of the field crew of the engineer's office was also disposed of. The finance committee proposes to trim the expenses of the city to a great extent in hope of making the finances of the city meet the requirements of the fiscal year. The constant growth of the city causes increased expense in maintaining the city departments. The harbor bond expense was heavy and came out of the general fund.

City Attorney Windrem submitted to the council the ordinance providing for the sale of the harbor bonds. The ordinance received its first reading and passed on its regular course. The bonds will be of $1000 denomination and will run for thirty-nine years.

Councilman Willis urged that steps should be taken to have the Southern Pacific company place a concrete bed under the rails to be laid on the west side streets. The city engineer was instructed to take the matter up with the proper officials.

Councilman Willis reported that two poles standing in the street at the junction of Railroad and Richmond avenues should be removed. The matter was referred to the superintendent of streets.

Councilman Garrard proposed the extension of Standard Avenue from its present terminus, which is near the Standard Oil office, to the belt line. An ordinance was ordered prepared to comply with Garrard's proposal.

Councilman Ludewig, of the light committee, recommended the change of an arc light from Park and Pullman to Twentieth and Montgomery, and the change was made.

Janitor Murphy resigned his position as city janitor, and J. P. Emanuel was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Ward & Charles were granted an extension of 120 days each on the Florida and Virginia street contracts. W. S. Dunlevy was also granted 110 days extension on the improvement of Ripley avenue.

The Clerk was directed to call for bids for the official advertising and printing for the year 1913.

Claims to the amount of $4856.73 were allowed and ordered paid.

Return From Holiday Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bryn have returned from Tuolumne county, where they spent the holidays with relatives, and brought back with them Mrs. Bryn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lumsden.

Mr. Lumsden is a civil engineer of considerable note, having charge of the work of the Elks Hall who sold the water rights in the vicinity of Yosemite Valley to San Francisco. Mr. Lumsden also made the roadway through the gigantic redwood tree on the stage road to Yosemite.

Skating in Church Basement.

Dr. Frank Horn, pastor of the First Baptist church, has introduced skating as an entertaining feature, the church basement being converted into a rink. The first party was given last evening. This attraction will be tried out by Dr. Horn to interest the young folk and a drawing card for the church.

ALASKA PROSPERS IN MANY WAYS

Products Valued at Thirty-Eight Millions Sent to United States

Governor Clarke's Report for the Year Gives Interesting Figures

Washington—Alaska has prospered in many respects during the last year, according to Governor Walter E. Clarke in his annual report submitted to Secretary of the Interior Fisher. Governor Clarke deplores, however, the present lack of railroad construction and of cheap native fuel, desiring that proper development of the territory's resources demands adequate means of transportation and the opening up of the fuel resources.

He asserts that "the residents generally are willing to accept any measure which will cause the fuel resources to be opened to development, so much so that the advantages of a fee system, a leasing plan or government operation have almost ceased to be matters of discussion."

A moderate decline in white population during the last two years has attributed to "diminished activity in placer mining in the interior valleys and in equal measure probably to inadequate land laws, to the remarkable public calamities about Alaska which have kept capital without its borders, and to the failure of congress to lend necessary means of encouragement to the development of a virgin region."

As to commerce between Alaska and the United States and with foreign countries, it was the largest last year in the history of the territory, totaling almost $63,000,000. Of this amount $18,800,000 was for merchandise from the United States, $1,000,000 above the previous record in 1910. Alaska shipped to the states $13,200,000 worth of canned salmon and $1,100,000 worth of other fish, $5,000,000 worth of copper ore, $17,200,000 worth of gold, and other products to a total value of more than $38,000,000. Except for gold, these are all record figures, the gold exports to the United States to two years ago having exceeded $18,000,000.

Never before was there such a great increase in the salmon industry, a total of 87 canneries being in operation against 64 the year before. There were 14,800 persons engaged in the work—19 per cent more than in 1911. Altogether there were 18,000 persons in the fishing industry, of whom 7600 were whites, the others Indians, Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, Mexicans and others. More than 500 whalers were killed during the season. Governor Clarke fears no depletion of the fish, provided the present protective laws are observed. He recommended "strict provisions to prevent alien from fishing in Alaskan waters, the present statute being notoriously evaded."

SEASON'S CITRUS CROP WILL BE 47,850 CARS

Riverside—The 1912-13 citrus fruit crop of California will be approximately 47,850 cars. Estimates are furnished by experts in every citrus growing district of the state, the aggregate estimate being that the present crop will vary but little from that of last season. No fruit has been damaged by frost as yet, but in some southern California localities damage from recent wind storms will reach 20 per cent.

All experts agree that the oranges are smaller this season than last, due to the cool spring and summer. Of the total output 36,600 cars will be from southern California and 3250 from northern California. The lemon output of the state is estimated to be 8000 cars.

Localities shipping 1000 cars oranges or over are as follows: Redland district, 5200; Riverside, 4600; Pomona, 4300; Azusa, Glendora, 3200; Ontario, Cucamonga, 2000; Covina, 1800; Placentia, 1000.

SEATLE PLANNING A MUNICIPAL BANK

Seattle, Wash.—The first step toward the establishment of a municipal bank was taken Thursday, when the judiciary committee of the city council recommended to the council submission to the voters next March of a charter amendment authorizing the council to engage in the banking business.

If the council's vote is favorable and the amendment is approved on March 4, the legislature must still pass a law permitting cities of the first class to make investments of their funds.

Promoters of the municipal project say the legislature will promptly pass the desired legislation.

STRIPES ARE DISCARDED IN OREGON PRISONS

Salem, Or.—Not a prisoner in the penitentiary is wearing stripes. As a Christmas present to the men, all parole violators, all those who have usurped the prison discipline, and in short, all the men in the prison who were compelled to wear stripes were placed in the convict gray, and this Christmas marked the starting of a new year for these men.

The stripes were abolished some time ago as a regular prison costume and have been worn only by those who have been recalcitrant. Superintendent Lawson and Governor West conceived the idea of giving all the men a chance on an even footing by taking the step that was determined upon.

BULGARIA PREPARING TO RESUME THE WAR

Berlin—Bulgaria is preparing to resume the war, according to a special dispatch from Rustchuk, Bulgaria. The correspondent says the Bulgarian minister has called up the recruits to be enrolled only in 1914 and has summoned all able bodied men up to the age of 60 to the colors.

38 UNION MEN ARE CONVICTED

Nearly All Those Accused in Government Dynamite Case Declared Guilty

Tvietmoe and Clancy, of San Francisco Among the Number-Conspiracy the Charge

Detroit, Mich.—The Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company is alleged to be violating the Sherman law in a petition in equity filed in the United States district court here by order of Attorney General Wickesham to settle for all time the extent to which a manufacturer may control prices. The company and its officers, engaged in the manufacture of Kellogg's toasted corn flakes, are charged with fixing prices at which the flakes are sold to retailer and consumer, preventing competition which would reduce the price to the public, and creating a monopoly by concentrating the entire interstate traffic in this commodity in the hands of jobbers and retailers who abide by price agreements exacted by the defendants. It is alleged that the defendants have invoked the patent laws through the use of a patented carton in which the flakes are packed as a "mere subterfuge and device" to escape the provisions of the Sherman law. The government asks for injunctions to prevent the company, its officers and agents, from controlling the price of the breakfast food after it leaves the hands of the manufacturer.

The men were not charged actually with causing explosions. The only charges under which they could be prosecuted by the federal government were conspiracy and illegal transportation of explosives. But the court ruled that evidence as to violence was competent as showing a motive.

VARYING TERMS GIVEN TO THOSE CONVICTED

Indianapolis, Dec. 28—Thirty-eight union labor officials were convicted in the federal court this morning on a charge of conspiracy for their alleged connection with the disasters which have taken place in different parts of the country. The charges were first made by the National Erectors' Association.

The men were not charged actually with causing explosions. The only charges under which they could be prosecuted by the federal government were conspiracy and illegal transportation of explosives. But the court ruled that evidence as to violence was competent as showing a motive.

LADY ATTENDANT ALWAYS PRESENT

Detroit, Mich.—The Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake company is alleged to be violating the Sherman law in a petition in equity filed in the United States district court here by order of Attorney General Wickesham to settle for all time the extent to which a manufacturer may control prices. The company and its officers, engaged in the manufacture of Kellogg's toasted corn flakes, are charged with fixing prices at which the flakes are sold to retailer and consumer, preventing competition which would reduce the price to the public, and creating a monopoly by concentrating the entire interstate traffic in this commodity in the hands of jobbers and retailers who abide by price agreements exacted by the defendants. It is alleged that the defendants have invoked the patent laws through the use of a patented carton in which the flakes are packed as a "mere subterfuge and device" to escape the provisions of the Sherman law. The government asks for injunctions to prevent the company, its officers and agents, from controlling the price of the breakfast food after it leaves the hands of the manufacturer.

The following are named defendants: Kellogg Toasted Cornflake company and Will K. Kellogg, Wilfred C. Kellogg and Andrew Rose, respectively president, secretary and general manager of the company, all of Battle Creek, Michigan. The suit is regarded by the government as of vast importance because of its bearing on the right of a manufacturer to control prices to the consumer.

It is alleged that the company sells only to jobbers, refusing absolutely to deal directly with consumers or with the retail trade. The commodity, according to the petition, is sold at a uniform price under an agreement that the jobbers will sell to retailers at a price fixed by the defendants. The defendants are charged with strictly enforcing the agreement of sale by absolutely refusing to deal with any jobber who fails to maintain the specified price.

It is pointed out that a notice signed by the Kellogg Corn-flake company is printed on the flap of the carton in which the flakes are packed stating that the package and its contents are sold conditionally with the distinct understanding that they will not be resold at less than 10 cents per package. For selling at less than that price the vendor is warned by the notice that he is liable to prosecution as an infringer of patent rights.

The government insists that the patented carton can afford no protection in attempting to fix resale prices by retailers because it is alleged:

The carton was not in fact patented, as all of its material features had long been in use before the patent was issued; the value of the carton is negligible, the contents alone being desired by the purchaser; the defendants having sold the cartons and contents to jobbers, have parted with all title to the commodities and have no legal right to fix prices at which the retail purchaser from the jobber shall be required to sell; and finally, "its use is resorted to as a mere subterfuge and device to avoid the provisions" of the anti-trust law and the provisions of the common law controlling such contracts.

SPIES HELP TO WELLINGTON

An interesting statement was made not long ago before the French Académie des Sciences Morales et Politiques by M. Bonnal, archivist to the French war office. According to M. Bonnal, Dubouillet, "coached" Wellington from 1806 to 1814, and the latter often repented of the betrayals by aristocratic French officers who had relatives in London.

M. Bonnal goes to the archives of the Spanish war office there to hunt up confessions by Spanish Bonapartists in the service of King Joseph Bonaparte of their own treason—some of these confessions recorded as early as 1816 under Ferdinand VII. Without any sort of shame they acknowledge that they betrayed Joseph to secret agents of Wellington.

In a time of universal scare, Wellington saw more clearly than anyone else his great merit—that Napoleon was fast using all the military resources of France, and, indeed, all but its soil, climate, and genius, and tiring out the latter. He managed to keep Spain an open sore in the enemy's flank, and thus left hopes to the continental courts for the downfall of the Corsican if they could coalesce against him.

M. Bonnal says that plans dictated by Napoleon for his brother King Joseph's guidance were found by guerrillas and passed on to Wellington. The idea of the lines of Torres Vedras to defend Lisbon has been placed to the credit of that renowned captain. Their real author is now discovered in the French Colonel Vincent, who knew the country and had served as a military engineer under Junct and Dupont. His plans to fortify the Torres Vedras hills were stolen and sent to Wellington.

ALMA MATER ALWAYS LOVED

The phrase "college life" is an Americanism and it has no equivalent in any other language but English. It describes, to those who use it with understanding and sympathy, an experience out of which grows a deep sentiment made up of pleasure, friendship, affection, loyalty and pride. It seems to them "a tender influence, a peculiar grace," that reaches out across miles and years, drawing them back to the Alma Mater, and the comradeship of their classmates. To most graduates their college life seems their golden age; through the mist of years the campus becomes an island of Utopia whose very tediums grow bright in the retrospect, the sting of whose sins and failures was always lessened by the power of the ideals and hopes that filled its air. No campus ever was a Utopia, and the most golden age of memory has doubtless been much alloyed with borer metal, but if there is not something very bright and beautiful American college life it is hard to account for the feeling in thousands of gray-haired men that long ago in their youth, besides the education they got or failed to get, they gained around the knees of Alma Mater lasting joy, strength and inspiration that was not entirely contained in the books they read and cannot be exactly measured by the knowledge they acquired.—Paul Van Dyke, in Scribner's Magazine.

They Did Better Then.

"We are losing all our secrets in this shabby age," an architect said "If we keep on, the time will come when we'll be able to do nothing well."

"Take, for instance, steel. We claim to make good steel, yet the blades the Saracens turned out hundreds of years ago would cut one of our own blades in two like butter."

"Take ink. Our modern ink fades in five or ten years to rust color, yet the ink of mediæval manuscripts is as black and bright today as it was 700 years ago."

"Take dyes. The beautiful blues and reds and greens of antique oriental rugs have all been lost, while in Egyptian tombs we find fabrics dyed thousands of years ago that remain today brighter and purer in hue than any of our modern fabrics."

"Take my specialty, buildings. We can't build as the ancients did. The secret of their mortar and cement is lost to us. Their mortar and cement were actually harder and more durable than the stones they bound together, whereas ours—horror!"

PROPER CARE OF UTENSILS

Success in Serving Appetizing Dishes Depends Very Largely on Perfect Cleanliness.

There may sometimes be observed in the cooked dish a loss of flavor not a bad taste, but a lack of what is appetizing. It would be interesting to know in how many cases this comes from the lack of cleanliness in utensils and methods.

Personal cleanliness is, of course, essential in the kitchen, and every good housekeeper endeavors to maintain a high standard in such matters. Some food manufacturers make special effort to secure cleanliness and hygienic surroundings, and the good example they set should be generally followed.

"Food and fingers are carriers of contagion." The proper way of washing the hands, if seriously taught and seriously practiced, in the market and in the kitchen, would go far to remove the source not only of infection, but of such additions to the food as are disgusting. In this matter some food manufacturers clean their methods than are our kitchens. In one large bakery, where information was collected, the rule is in force that every employee shall wash his hands on returning to the room after leaving it for any purpose whatever.

The running tap, like the shower bath, offers a great improvement over old methods of washing. Few will have patience to fill and refill the hand basin until the hands are bathed at last in clean water, but this result is easily accomplished under the tap. The nail brush and nail cleaner must have their place in the kitchen, and their use must be insisted on before bread or cake is mixed and after work at all soiling in character.

Every one will admit that there is need for exercising great care in coughing and sneezing wherever such necessary acts may be needed to others. When one reads the experiment has shown that a fine spray of saliva may be thrown in all directions for a distance of four or five feet by a violent sneeze or cough, and that often the cause of the cough or sneeze is something which can be thus communicated to others, it is evident that there is abundant reason for caution.

Particularly this is essential wherever food is prepared, exposed or served.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

When beating eggs use pinch of salt and they will be much lighter for cake.

To prevent woolens shrinking hang them on the line dripping wet without wringing the rinse water out of them after washing.

When boiling shoulder turn off water after boiling half an hour; when boiled place in oven for 15 minutes and it will be just like ham.

To revive potted plants that are drooping put a teaspoonful of ammonia in three quarts of water and water the plants thoroughly with the mixture.

Before you use a new gas mantle, soak it in vinegar and hang it up to dry. In this way a brilliant light is obtained and the burners will last twice as long as usual, even in a drafty room.

Many excellent good housekeepers are very indifferent about labeling. They trust to their memories as to what is in each jar or package, and sometimes with disastrous results. All stores should be plainly labeled.

More people spoil their plants by over-watering them than any other thing. To make young plants bloom keep them in rather small pots, shifting only when root-bound. Foliage plants should be kept in rather large pots and shifted to larger before they become root-bound. All plants should be well drained.

Baked Apples With Marshmallows.

Wash and core tart apples and place in an earthenware baking dish with just enough water to cover the bottom. In the center of each apple place a tiny bit of butter and an eighth of a teaspoonful of salt. Cover and bake slowly till thoroughly cooked, adding a little water if necessary. Before the apples are quite done press into the center of each a marshmallow; replace in the oven; in three minutes remove the cover and let the apples and marshmallows brown carefully. Serve cold with cream. Pears may be cooked in the same way, cutting a slice from the stem end, coring and placing the pear stem end up in the dish.—Good Housekeeping.

Chicken With Hollandaise Sauce.

Singe the chicken, split down the back and wipe with a damp cloth. Season well with salt and pepper. Rub the fowl with butter, letting the greater part go on the breast and legs. Dredge with flour and put in the broiler with the breast to the heat at first. When the chicken is a fine brown, which will be in about fifteen minutes, place in a pan in a moderate oven for twelve minutes. Put on a hot platter with butter and serve immediately. This is for a chicken weighing about two and a half pounds.

Banana Pudding.

Cut an angel cake in two parts, slice four bananas an hour before using and sprinkle them with sugar, then whip one pint of cream. Spread one-third of the whipped cream on the cake, then put on this a few slices of banana, another third of the cream. Place the other half of the cake on top of this and put the remaining portions of cream and bananas on the cake.

Apple Butter.

Apple butter is one of the most wholesome things a child can eat, the dieticians say. Strange to tell, nearly all normal children adore apples. Apples pared, boiled and pressed through a colander can be canned this way with very little sugar and are always easily kept and ready for making into apple butter.

French Elections Not Like Ours'

DOES AWAY WITH KNEADING

Bread making without kneading seems somewhat of a novelty, but this recipe is over fifty years old, and comes from the housekeeping book of an old lady who was a noted cook.

The recipe is called "Aunt Mary's Bread" and runs as follows:

Take one quart of milk and water, half of each (blood warm); two table-spoonsful of granulated sugar, one tea-spoonful each of butter and sweet pure lard, one-half tea-spoonful of salt, one cake of compressed yeast and enough twice sifted flour to make a soft, smooth dough.

Rub the butter and lard into the flour. Sift in the sugar and salt. Dissolve the yeast in a little water from the one quart and add. Begin with a small amount of flour, and mixing with a spoon, and beating thoroughly, gradually add more flour, until it is dry enough just not to stick to the pan. Do not touch it with your hands. When dry enough, set it to rise in a warm place.

The next morning, or when it is sufficiently risen, take it up on your floured hands, touching lightly and gently just enough to mold it into leaves, and put it in pans to rise again from about fifteen minutes to half an hour. When it begins to blister put into a moderate oven.

This will make to medium size loaves that will cut as smooth as cake. If it browns too rapidly, cover with paper, to prevent the crust from getting tough.

GOOD USE FOR LEFTOVERS

Meat Patties May Be Made of One Variety, or a Combination May Be Employed.

Luxurious Restaurant.
The life of the assembly on the day of a presidential election only begins after lunch. The president of the senate, the president of the chamber and the ministers have many guests, and as they are lodged for the day in the palace the ancient home of kings being a luxurious restaurant, wherein many a vote is changed by a judicious presentation of arguments over a meal of the highest excellence. Some days before the election all the resources of the national warehouse, where all the nation's treasures in furniture are stored, are drawn upon to fit up apartments for these high officials who will use them for a few hours. To the president of the assembly is allotted an entire second story, with bedroom, as he was going to stay days instead of hours. He has sumptuous reception rooms at his disposal and a staff of servants of every kind.

The assembly generally opens at one o'clock. The public galleries are then crowded. The president of the assembly takes his seat in an armchair amid cheers from his admirers, although the presence of an opposition can always be detected. The secretaries of the senate take their places and the president declares the session open. He reads the article of the constitution by which the assembly is created and the article which says that the president of the republic shall be elected by an absolute majority of the national assembly for seven years and that he is eligible for re-election. He then says:

"I declare the national assembly duly constituted. The vote will take place at the tribune by calling the names."

Letters of excuse from members unable to attend are read and the names of thirty-eight members to count the votes are drawn by lot. These preliminaries being concluded a letter is drawn by lot to designate the initial at which the order of voting shall commence.

Fast Work a Necessity.
The fastest shorthand writing ever done, so it is said, was accomplished by Nathan Behrin, a New York court reporter, at a recent contest held by the National Shorthand Reporters' association. He wrote 278 words a minute for five minutes. This is faster than most people can talk; but when the court stenographer must be prepared to meet and "take down" the exceptional witness with six-cylinder verbal capacity.

His Pen Name.
"Here!" cried the hotel clerk, glancing at the register where the new arrival had just scrawled "No. 1533." "What's the idea?" "Oh, I beg your pardon!" explained the ex-torger, as he corrected his social error. "That's my pen name."

His Best.
"He's a brute." "How so?" "When she promised to be his wife he said he would do everything in his power to make her happy." "Well?" "He spends all of his time at the club!" "Well, if he is really a brute that ought to help some."

Tartare Sauce.
One cupful mayonnaise, one teaspoonful finely chopped capers, one teaspoonful finely chopped olives, one teaspoonful finely chopped green cucumber pickle, and one teaspoonful finely chopped parsley will be needed for this recipe.

Mint-Glazed Carrots.

Wash and scrape three carrots and cut in one-fourth inch slices. Parboil for ten or fifteen minutes, drain, put into a saucier with one-third cupful each of sugar and butter, and one tablespoomful of chopped mint leaves. Cook very slowly until glazed and perfectly tender. Serve hot, and as a border surrounding a mound of green peas.—Good Housekeeping.

Cake Filling.

Mix three-fourths cup sugar, one tablespoomful flour, one cup boiling water, one cup chopped raisins and nuts and cook until it thickens. Roll the dough very thin and place the filling between two layers. Bake.

Chopped Carrots.

Boll the carrots in salted water, then chop them fine and season with butter, pepper, salt and a little hot milk to make them moist.

Beach-Teas Changes Color.

There is an island in the Gulf of Mexico where the beach changes color twice daily with the tides. When uncovered the sands are purple, but the inflowing waters quickly transform them to gold. The name of the island is Smalls' Island, and this supplies the key to the remarkable phenomenon. The sands are really a golden color, and when the rising tide spreads over the wide beach the silted bits of earth glister in the sunlight; but when the tide ebbs the golden sands are made purple by myriads of tiny purple snails crawling in the wake of the ebbing tide.

Not even Cologne has the perfume that is named for it flowing free. But down on the Island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies, there is a fountain that gushes forth the great specialty of the place—bay rum. California is one of the most productive states in the union, and Richmond the industrial center.

We all like to regulate the other fellow's business, especially when he becomes a sharp competitor.

Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee is the only socialist ever elected to congress. He was offered $10,000 a year salary to join the staff of Hearst newspapers, but turned the offer down.

Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb, whose picture graces more albums than any other one photograph in the United States, will rent a Fifth avenue, New York, mansion for a farewell levee for the generation which loved her. The midget lady has passed the 71st milestone. She married Count Magri, a clever Italian, after the death of Gen. Tom Thumb.

The prices for produce in Iowa, according to market reports, vary with those of productive California. Fresh eggs are quoted at 25¢, butter 20¢, young chickens per lb. 9¢, old caucuses 7¢, turkeys 14¢. These are retail prices. Corned turkeys at 14¢ is one-half the price paid by the bay city consumer. But we have it on Iowa for climate, so "what's the use?"

Friend Richardson, the progressive superintendent of state printing, has reduced the cost of state school books nearly one half from the former cost under the Shannon administration. Mr. Richardson has "overhauled" the state printing, substituting efficient workmen for "politicians," some of the latter not knowing the location of the "a" box, printerially speaking.

The problem of a scientific system of distribution will eventually come, when the melancholy phenomenon of some folk starving in the midst of plenty will be unknown. If the ossiferous cerebral tissue of man is too dense to work out this problem, women will come to the rescue with that finer mentality and adjust the system of exchange between producer and consumer.

The state ought to guarantee the bonds of irrigation districts. The least it can do is to lend its credit to a form of enterprise that means great and assured results in development and wealth. The people of the irrigation districts will pay their own debts, which is more than some private corporations have done, and receiving the backing of the federal government. The people of the irrigation districts should cease to beg. They should stand and demand large and full recognition of their enterprise, and drive home on the public intelligence what the building up of these districts means to the state as a whole.—Stockton Record.

WHO OWNS THE WILD FOWL?

A bill will be introduced in the legislature next month to prohibit the sale of wild ducks. This measure, if it becomes a law, will leave the non-hunter nothing in game food, as venison, quail and doves, already prohibited from being sold. It is well known that the "sportsmen" who are back of this change in the game laws, have corralled all the available hunting grounds in California, and the preserve trust dominates over every acre where the toothsome can or sprig alights. Unless one is wealthy enough to join the game trust or club, the aroma from a game dinner will never be his to enjoy. Game birds under present conditions will soon be extinct in California, modern guns and contrivances for wholesale slaughter working terrible havoc. The wood-duck, one of the most beautiful of the webfoot variety, whose flavor is superior to the juicy canvasback, is practically extinct. Wild geese have decreased 50 per cent in ten years. The Great Fish and Game Protective association recommend several changes in the game laws, such as bag limits and further limitations on the time of shooting. These changes are for the benefit of the whole people, but with the sale of all game prohibited, no one except the preserve nabob will get a smell of wild duck, the bird that belongs to the people and is consumed by aristocrats.
